

This year's convention was in Denver, CO. The general meeting and the voting meeting went quite well. The rules were passed no major dispute showing a great deal of comraderie which is good during this bad time economically.

I attended my committee meeting which is now the long range planning committee. Diane Paris is the chairman but she was not there Susie Shaw was acting chairman.

There was much discussion about how to survive these times. Breeding Stocks were discussed. There was discussion on raising fees. It was suggested not to do this. The split of the World show was discussed with an APHA staff. They will not be putting the show back together. It is a great success. They did not loose money like rumors said. The show was already bigger this year on paper than last year.

That was all that was discussed at this meeting.

I did attend an informal meeting in regards to animal cruelty. There were many people there. A movement to get a committee going on it was going to be suggested.

Thank you
